RHECORT

Reduce the household energy consumption in rural territories

What challenge or problem are you addressing? What is the need for the project?

The solutions to achieve energy savings do not take into account the whole problem. Currently in the Department of Loire-Atlantique, and especially in rural areas, the energy consumption reduction projects are ad hoc, only diffused and applied to certain segments of the population. The idea is to establish several awareness actions in a living space in order to "enlist" a majority of people in energy transition.

Objective of the project: What your project wants to achieve/change

Promote energy conservation among citizens by the creation of individual and collective actions of awareness of green actions with a set of inhabitants, owners or tenants.

Why do you need transnational cooperation?

Some European countries have developed policies for several years in energy consumption reduction. Sharing on this issue including how to "put in motion" the territories on this problem is essential for us.

What kind or partners are you looking for?

A leader who has a project in energy / housing area.
