RESKILLED – Refugees Skills Unchained

Co-creative and Co-productive (Labour Market) Integration and Identity Development of Refugees through a Transnational NWE-Brokerage Network in Community-Based Sectors

14

What challenge or problem are you addressing? What is the need for the project?

- Refugees provide untapped skills, e.g. for community-based sectors such as the housing sector, person-related sector and local entrepreneurship
- Refugees receive sets of information that is supposed to help integration, but often fail, because their needs are not taken into account
- 4 main identified barriers of labour market and general integration need to be tackled: Language, Adaptation, Identity, Skills Development
- Across Europe, there is a potential interest for joint housing projects in city centers and neighborhood and community development

Objective of the project:

- Improve labour market/general integration of refugees by co-creation/co-production in communities
- Improve identity development of refugees based on their cultural background
- Improve transnational cooperation in community-based sectors to tap unexploited potentials

Why do you need transnational cooperation?

Refugee Migration is a highly transnational phenomenon that requires transnational responses, as refugees need to be informed on their right of EU free movement of workers to balance out the transnational labour markets.
EU regions need to learn from each other and establish transnational instruments and networks.

What kind or partners are you looking for?

- Regional and Local Stakeholders
- Refugee Organisations
- Established Regional Migrations Networks
- Local SMEs in the housing sector, person-related sector
- Ethnic or immigrant entrepreneurs
- Policy makers
- Civil Society Organisations
- City Administration

Your contact details

Name	Dr. Alexandra David / Dorothea Palenberg
Organisation	Institute for Work and Technology blue! advancing european projects
Region	North Rhine Westphalia
Country	Germany
Telephone number	+49 (0)209 1707-171 / +49 (0)89 8904 881-73
Email	david@iat.eu / d.palenberg@the-blue.net
Website	www.iat.eu / http://the-blue.net