Reallocating of office furnishings and materials

About – An office building will be renovated into new residences and multifunctional spaces. Together with the project developer we are searching for new uses for materials coming out of the building, either within other projects of the developer or by finding the right outlets, resellers and alternative destinations.

Challenges – De large quantities of specific materials makes it interesting for Democo to reuse them in other projects in the same region. Timing, costs and finding the right (sub)contractor are a challenge. It is hard to find interested parties for the other materials (in pristine condition).
